Meet Prof. Miller

Professor Kelly Miller, Professor of Sociology at Howard University and erstwhile Dean of the Junior College, was born in 1863, in Winnsboro, S. C. He received his elementary and secondary education in Winnsboro and in Fairfield Institute, S. C. Later he entered Howard University where he received his A. B. degree in 1886. In 1908 he received the degree of A. M. from Wilberforce University and the LL. B. degree from Virginia Union University. He also did post-graduate work in mathematics and physics at Johns Hopkins University in 1887-89.

Mr. Miller's activities since he graduated from Howard University have been widely diversified. Without a doubt he is one of the best known and outstanding Negroes of all time; a scholar; a lecturer of wide acceptance before both white and Negro audiences in America on sociological questions and the American race problem; he is considered a race statesman.

While a student at Howard University, Professor Miller worked in the U. S. government service. Later he taught mathematics in the Washington high schools and entered upon active service at Howard in 1889 as Professor of Mathematics. He has thus given over thirty years of continuous service in the University.

He is an author of distinction. More than a score of pamphlets have come from his pen which have a combined circulation of over half a million copies. His books have been favorably received and widely read. Some of them are: "Out of the House of Bondage," "Race Adjustment," and "The Everlasting Stain." Articles of interest written by him have appeared in magazines like the American Mercury, Atlantic Monthly, Nineteenth Century (English), and the South Atlantic Quarterly. The chapter on "The Education of the Negro" in the report of the U. S. Bureau of Education, 1901.

Mr. Miller holds membership in the Howard Park Citizens Association; Fifteenth Street Presbyterian Church; Academy of Political and Social Science; American Social Science Association; National Educational Association; Walt Whitman International Fellowship; American Negro Academy; N. A. A. C. P. and Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity.

Professor Miller is probably best known for his "Negro Sanhedrin" idea of some years ago.

NOTED SPECIALIST CONDUCTS CLINIC

Dr. Harry W. Barnes, noted Negro ear, nose and throat specialist and bronchoscopist of Philadelphia, held the second of a series of clinics at the Howard University school of medicine and Freedmen's Hospital on Tuesday morning, April 14, from 9 to 11 o'clock. These clinics are open to the medical profession and will continue on Tuesdays from 9 to 11 a. m. throughout the month of April.

Dr. Barnes is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and received his special training under the famous Chevalier Jackson of Philadelphia, and in the clinics in France and in Germany. He is a member of the American Board of Otolaryngology.

His services are frequently sought in the removal of foreign bodies from the throat and lower air passages, internal drainage of lung abscesses, and in widening strictures of the swallowing apparatus, thus enabling those unfortunates to swallow after having been burned by swallowing lye.

He also dilates strictures caused by cancer of the esophagus. The technique of these procedures are demonstrated in the examination and treatment of properly selected patients at Freedmen's Hospital.

Dr. Roscoe McKinney, professor and head of the Department of Anatomy of the Howard University School of Medicine has recently been elected to membership in the Association of American Anatomists, according to announcement by Dean Numa P. G. Adams today. Dr. McKinney received the degree of doctor of philosophy in anatomy at the University of Chicago last year.

James E. Bryant, instructor in physiology in the School of Medicine of Howard University addressed the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology at McGill University, Montreal, Canada, April 10, on the subject "Calcium as a Normal Negro Musicians."

Wife: I'm going to give you a piece of my mind.
Husband: Just a small helping, please.

WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

WOMEN ATTEND BRYN MAWR CONFERENCE

Over the weekend of April 25 several young women of the campus attended a conference sponsored by the Liberal Club of Bryn Mawr College at Bryn Mawr, Pa. The general subject of the conference was "The Economic Status of the Negro". The women have brought back to the campus many interesting observations and facts that would interest the Women's League and the University as a whole. The speakers were outstanding Negroes in various fields of development, among whom were Dr. Alain Locke, Mr. Walter White, Mr. Ira Reid, Dr. W. E. B. Dubois, Miss Alice Dunbar-Nelson, Mr. Philip Randolph, and Mr. J. B. Mathews, white.

The conference lasted during one day with the morning session beginning at ten o'clock and the night session closing at ten. One of the most interesting addresses and one that caused much discussion was delivered by Mr. Philip Randolph of the Pullman Car Brothers. He discussed the various unemployment problems facing the Negro and the probable solution of these problems. His remedies were: Negroes must oppose color line in industry all the time; 2, Labor organizations should be initiated; 3, there should be a development of workers' education among the Negroes; 4, Political Action should be undertaken.

In contrast was Dr. Locke's speech on the culture of the Negro which lifted the discussion above material means of securing recognition along certain lines.

However, one of the most interesting features of the conference was the opportunity offered the delegates to visit and inspect the various buildings of the college. The women gathered many facts that would be of interest to the women at Howard.

At present the women of the university are interested in the publication of the Hilltop which they shall edit. The paper is a project that has become an annual one in the university life of the women. It usually can be given the title of the best paper of the year. Anyway everyone is looking forward to its publication.

Many of the women of the university—to be exact—the class of future deans under the tutelage of Dean Slowe were guests at an interracial meeting at the home of Mrs. D. W. Holmes during the past week. Entertainment was offered by Miss Camille Nickerson who sang and played her arrangements of her Creole songs. An enjoyable evening was had by all.

It is very noticeable that the tennis courts are being frequented by the women of the university more than ever before. This gives rise to the thought why women do not have a tennis team. However, recreation is gained by all who desire it and much competition is afforded everyone.

The Bison Staff of the year has its representatives from the women of the university. In fact the women are working hard to make the annual project a huge success. One can see Miss Kitty Richardson and little Miss Allie Hicks trying to squeeze snapshots from all they meet. We wish them much success although the complaints that are going around that the photographs do not do justice to those who pose may make their work just a bit more difficult. We can only say the camera took what sat before it!

Well the sororities are now putting their candidates on probation. We have noticed that only one sorority has done it so far. This brings us to wonder if the others plan to have spring initiation. It must be remembered that all of them did not have it last year. But we look to see some other people under-going much mental strain before we leave Howard. (Of course that doesn't happen until next year.)

The senior girls are taking every advantage of their opportunity to make up for lack of automobile rides during their early years at the university. How the freshmen must envy them!

We have nothing more about which to write, but we hope that in the future the column won't be so short.

PUBLIC SCHOOL EXHIBIT OF ART SHOWN HERE

An art exhibit of the public schools of the District is on display at the Howard University art gallery from May 3 to 11. The exhibit includes work of students in elementary schools, junior high schools, senior high schools, vocational schools, and one college, Miner Teachers College.

Among the works of art are: pastels from life, textiles, charcoal sketches from still life, landscapes, engraving, and jewelry.

The jewelry, wrought in silver, and decorated with stones form a particularly attractive part of the exhibit.

The art gallery which is under the supervision of Mr. V. F. Herring, head of the art department, is open daily from 9:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. and on Sundays from 2 to 5 p. m.
